G.T. Clark MSS (NLW MSS 5171-234).

References have previously been made in these Reports to books and manuscripts of the late Mr G.T. Clark, Talygarn, presented by his grandson, Mr Wyndham D. Clark. The printed books, which include standard, historical and other works, and those desiderata of first-class reference libraries - the publications of learned societies - are of great value (Dept of Printed Books). These are supplemented by Mr G. T. Clark's extensive manuscript materials, collected during a lifetime of assiduous industry and research. Mr Clark was not only the greatest contributor to the history of Glamorgan; he was an authority on such subjects as mediaeval military architecture, and on Glamorgan genealogy. His manuscripts have now been arranged and bound. They make 66 quarto and folio volumes, as follows:- Glamorgan, History 3 volumes; Glamorgan, Topography 2 volumes; Glamorgan, Manors 9 volumes; Glamorgan, Signatory of Gower 2 volumes; Glamorgan, Genealogy 4 volumes; Genealogy, general 10 volumes; Military Architecture 3 volumes; Castles, general 2 volumes; Castles, English 3 volumes; Castles, Welsh 2 volumes; Castles of other countries 1 volume; The Earldom of Pembroke 2 volumes; Overton Longueville 1 volume; Legal Documents (with extracts) 7 volumes; History of Coal Trade 1 volume; Scotland, Ireland and Verulamium 2 volumes; Papers relating to the "Cartae et Alia Munimenta." 1 volume; Autograph letters 1 volume; Miscellanea 3 volumes; Material for a History of Glamorgan (Cringell Papers) 4 volumes; Deeds, surveys, etc. 3 portfolios.

Principal J.H.Davies, M.A., who edited THE LETTERS OF LEWIS, RICHARD, WILLIAM AND JOHN MORRIS OF ANGLESEY (MORRISIAID MÔN) 1728-1765, 2 volumes, 1907-8, has handed over to the Library 144 original letters of the Morris brothers including six not in the published work (NLW MS 600E). The late Sir Lewis Morris lent these letters to Mr Davies on the understanding that he was to hand them over to the National Library when done with. They will be bound and bear the classmark NLW MS. 600. Among the six unpublished papers is:- "A true and perfect inventory of all and singular the goods, chattels, and effects of the late Lewis Morris, esq. Taken by the order and direction of his co-executors Mrs Ann Morris, widd. and Lewis Morris the younger the tenth day of May 1765." Principal Davies has also handed over the original autograph of "Cywydd i'r Calan" by Goronwy Owen and the letter which the poet sent to Lewis Morris with the poem. These also formerly belonged to Sir Lewis Morris.

Bible, 1610, Geneva version, containing the Old and New Testaments, Two ... concordances ... and tables, collected by R.F.H. and the Metrical Psalms by Starnehold and Hopkins, 1609 (Dept of Printed Books). Bound in full calf, blind-tooled, with brass clasps; wanting the general title, folios 55 and 56, and the whole of the Apocrypha.

This condition of the Bible, like many others printed by R. Barker, closely resembles the edition of 1580. The tables, which form an essential part of the 1580 Bible, were compiled by Robert F. Herrey, and the copy bound in this volume is dated 1608.

Disgrifiad / Description

Papers and letters of, or relating to, Samuel Holland (1803-92), M.P. for the county of Merioneth, captain of industry and philanthropist (NLW MS 4983-5C, 4986-7B). These papers, which are numerous, largely relate to Samuel Holland's activities in connection with industry, politics and education in Merioneth and particularly to slate quarrying in the Festiniog district, to the Festiniog Railway, and to shipping at Porthmadoc. They fall roughly into four main classes:- (a) personal, (b) industrial, (c) political, (d) educational and philanthropic.

In the personal group are several letters together with two copies of Samuel Hollands's MS. autobiography, in the course of which he mentions that his cousin Mrs Gaskell (novelist and biographer of Charlotte Bronte) stayed at his residence at Plas Penrhyn, Penrhyndeudraeth, where she commenced to write one of her books.

The industrial group is the largest and is important for the history of Merionethshire and Carnarvonshire. One of the pioneers in the slate and other quarrying industries, and in the marketing of Welsh slates, Samuel Holland was largely responsible for the construction of the Festiniog Railway, opened for mineral traffic in 1835, and for the development of Portmadoc as a harbour for the export of Welsh slates. His papers show that he was also interested in the projected harbour at Porthdinllaen in the Lleyn peninsula which did not mature.

Mr Holland succeeded the late David Williams of Castell Deudraeth (father of Sir Osmond Williams, Bart.) as Liberal Member of Parliament for Merioneth in 1870. There are some papers relating to Merionethshire politics.

He had a large share in the establishment of Dr Williams's School for girls at Dolgelly, and subscribed £800 to the funds. He founded primary schools at Tanygrisiau and Penrhyndeudraeth. Of the latter school he remained a prominent supporter throughout his life. His papers throw light on all these activities and on his work for the temperance movement, Boards of Guardians, and in securing improved postal facilities and better roads in the Penrhyndeudraeth and Festiniog districts.

The papers will be of value for a biography of one who did much for the industrial and intellectual life of Merioneth.

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1924-25

Disgrifiad / Description

Although not officially connected with the Court I should like to put on record the death, in his 90th year, on October 16, 1924, of Rev Rees Jenkin Jones, MA, of Aberdare, a sincere friend who made numerous gifts of valuable MS. records and printed books to the National Library from time to time.

Since his death, Dr Goronwy Jones, Swansea, and other members of the family have sent several parcels of printed and manuscript material (NLW MSS 4361-70. These with the donations which "R.J.J." made during his lifetime will be of much interest to Unitarians and others, as he was a great authority on the history of Unitarianism in Wales.

There are several manuscript volumes of sermons by Rev Timothy Davies of Oldbury and a small MS. volume of prayers by the same person (NLW MS 4369A); sermons in MS. by Rev Thomas Rees of Blaengwrach, and Rev Richard Lloyd of Carmarthen and Llwynrhydowen (NLW MS 4369A); a diary of Rev Timothy Davies of Caeronen (NLW MS 4370B); a pedigree of the family of Alltyrodyn in the autograph of Rees Jones "Amnon," etc. (NLW MSS 4362-3B) The autograph letters are numerous and of great interest. The bulk are addressed to "R.J.J." but there are some which were sent to his father, Rev John Jones, Unitarian minister, Aberdare. The correspondence falls roughly into two groups (NLW MSS 4367-8E); the first belonging to the period of the father, the second being letters addressed to "R.J.J." whose correspondents were numerous and represent many interests. Among them may be mentioned - Rev William Thomas, "Gwilym Marles"; Rev T. Lloyd James, "Glwydwenfro"; Rev Alex Gordon, Manchester; H. Tobit Evans; Thos R. Davis, Philadelphia; and Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Chicago.

In addition to the manuscripts, the collection contains a number of printed books, chiefly Welsh and English theological works of the 18th and 19th centuries, and a number of publications relating to Welsh chapels, societies, etc.

Disgrifiad / Description

18 volumes of Acts of Parliament, 1529-1558, mostly printed in Black Letter, comprising twelve statutes of the reign of Henry VIII, printed and published by T. Berthelet, and a volume of Statutes and Acts made in the reigns of Edward VI and Mary, published by R. Crafton and John Cawood (Dept of Printed Books).

Berthelet published several editions of the Statues. One edition, in two volumes, comprised the Statutes "Made ... from the time of Henry III to ... Henry VIII", the second volume of which was also issued in several parts, and sold separately. Some of these volumes are probably the separate parts of volume 2 of the collected edition.

Magna Carta. London: R. Pynson, 1508. Begins: Folio 1. Magna Carta. Edwardus dei gratia rex ... Ends: Ad laudem gloria cuetipotantis ac beate virginis marie totaq celestis curia sic paru codex qui Antiqua Statuta vocatur Explicit, etc. Without title page. Contains a list of legal terms in contemporary hand on fly leaf. Bound in calf, blind tooled.

A 1525 R. Pynson edition of Gildas Britannus Monachus; a number of scarce theological tracts concerning Unitarianism, published during the 16th and 17th centuries; and the Itinerarium R. D. Thomse Carve Tipperariensis, Mainz, 1639. Thomas Carue (or Carew) known as Carve, (1590-1672?) was chaplain to an Anglo-Irish regiment in the Thirty Years War. In 1643 he went to reside at Vienna as vicar choral of St. Stephens Cathedral. The itinerary is valuable not only because of its scarcity, but also because it gives important details concerning Wallenstein, and the general history of Christendom during the lifetime of the author. The work also contains an interesting account of Ireland and a curious description of England. The third part was published at Spires, 1646, a copy of which is wanted to complete the work presented by Mr Macdonald.

Letters, papers and printed matter of Welsh-American interest ranging from 1904 to 1914. Mr G. K. Miles, a descendant of one of the early Welsh emigrants to America, took up the genealogical research of his own family - Miles and Phillips. In order to obtain information he corresponded with several people in America, Wales and England, the chief being T. Miles of Nantmel, near Rhayader, Mr T.

Mathias, Kilgerran, Mr T. Allen Glenn, Mr Septimus Davis, Aberdeen, Maryland, an attorney, and others. A great deal of the correspondence which took place between them is found in the collection, which includes also copies of letters sent by Mr Miles to his various correspondents. There are also miscellaneous notes relating to the early Welsh settlers in Pennsylvania, Bucks, Chester, York, and elsewhere in the USA, and on the growth of Nonconformity in Pennsylvania, especially of the Baptist and Quakers. Clippings from the DRUID, programmes of St David's Day celebrations and other papers, MS. and printed, of Welsh interest are included. Some of the letters are of interest for their descriptions of the social and political state of America and Wales before the Great War. Mr G.K. Miles obtained a great deal of matter from this country in the form of photographs and descriptions of Baptist churches in South Wales, copies of wills, and extracts from parish registers in Pembrokeshire. There are over 400 separate letters or papers and seven portfolios of miscellaneous notes, all arranged.

A small, leather-bound volume, 7 x 4 ins., of Welsh printed and MS. matter, once the property of William Rowlands of Cwrtycwm, Llanychaiarn, 1778?-1866, grandfather of the donor (NLW MS 4979B).

The first 103 pages consist of a copy of Hanes, cyfansoddiad, rheolau disgyblaethol, enghyd a chyffes ffydd, y corph o Fethodistiaid Calfinaidd ... printed at Aberystwyth in 1824. The remainder is probably in the autograph of Wm. Rowlands, and consists of copies of hymns, lists of Cardiganshire C.M. chapels and preachers with information concerning them (e.g. dates when they died or left the district), lists of delegates to the Sunday School bi-monthly meetings, and other matter of the same nature, together with a list of preachers and their texts, (probably heard by Rowlands at various places), from June 4, 1826 to Dec. 7, 1858, numbering in all 4,707. Owing to lack of space in the original volume, extra leaves have been inserted towards the end.

As a result of the regularity and detail with which these records have for the most part been kept, the volume proves a source of interesting information concerning the state of Calvinistic Methodism in Cardiganshire during the first half of the 19th century.

Several interleaves were added and on these and the margins of the book John Hughes has written numerous corrections (including corrections of printers' errors and errors due to the editor's ignorance of Welsh), emendations, comments whether of agreement or disagreement, and notes. The MS. notes are interesting; one note reflects the controversy on Welsh orthography. "Several of Mr Gunn's citations are inaccurately spelt, and he preposterously follows the fancies adopted in Owen (Pughe)'s Dictionary." The book was subsequently in the library of the late Rev. 1925015

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1924-25

Disgrifiad / Description

Manuscripts (including deeds and documents) (NLW MSS 3601-40), autograph letters and printed matter.

The deeds, the earliest of which is dated February 4, 1599, relate mainly to the county of Carmarthen and to the districts of St Ishmaels, Cilycwm, Llandilo, Llangathan and Llandoverly. Among the MSS. are, a memorandum of evidence prepared by the late Tom Ellis, M.P. for the Welsh Land Commission of 1894-6, and an 18th century folio volume of 250 pages, kept by one David Williams, attorney, mostly comprising lawsuit charges, rentals, disbursements, bills, and receipts, relating to localities in Cardiganshire and Carmarthenshire.

The autograph letters which Mr Thomas has sent were nearly all received by him in connection with his work in preparing biographies of eminent Welshmen for the Dictionary of National Biography, among the numerous correspondents were Dean Howell, "Llawdden"; Llywarch Reynolds; and Thomas Darlington, H.M.I., besides many from over the English border. The letters relate to the following among other eminent Welsh men and women, Jane Williams, Ysgafell; "Allen Raine"; Thomas Stephens of Merthyr; Archdeacon Williams, first Warden of Llandoverly; Bishop Basil Jones; Henry Vaughan, "Silurist"; and Sir Lewis Morris.

The most interesting group of manuscripts is, perhaps, that which belonged to the well-known Unitarian Minister, Rev Thomas Evans, "Thomas Glyn Cothi," who died in 1833. This comprises a small book with notes by another with notes of sermons by Rev Joseph Fawcett and Rev James Saurin, with an indication that the sermons were preached by Thomas Evans at Aberdare and Ffynon Rydd in 1798; a printed book bearing his autograph; and two letters sent to him. One of these is from Rev. Theophilus Lindsey; the other is possibly of the greater interest, as it was received by Thomas Evans when he was imprisoned in Carmarthen prison on a charge arising out of his sympathy for the upholders of the French Revolution. This letter, which is addressed to the "Revd. Mr Thomas Evans, Dissenting Minister, at the County Goal, Carmarthen", is as follows:-

Dear Sir,

My cousin Tom Skenkin of Rhydybennau sent me your petition to be forwarded to the Trustees of Lady Hewley's Fund. I heartily wish it success. I mentioned your case to a few Friends who contributed £5 which I with great pleasure enclose for your acceptance. When you receive this, take the trouble to write me a few lines to convey to me that Information-and besides, let me know how long you are to remain in durance vile. Are you likely to be greatly injured upon the whole in your wordly circumstances by the Prosecution? Do the inhabitants of Carmarthen show you much kindness? Are any of the Miss Rhyderch married? Should you have an opportunity, please to give my respects to Mrs Peters and to Mr and Mrs Williams formerly Mercer. I think I heard that the Miss Richards, Milliners, are dead. In hopes of hearing from you soon I remain your wellwisher.

John Davies

Makeney, near Derby, Jany. 19, 1803.

The printed matter, which is varied in its scope, includes a copy of a Bill to secure the public right of access to mountains, rivers, lakes, moors and waste land, also ancient or disused pathways, in the principality of Wales, 1888.

Ffynhonnell / Source

Major F Carpenter Holland Griffith, Carreglwyd, Anglesey, and Biddenham, Bedford

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynnyddol / Annual Report 1924-25

Disgrifiad / Description

This extensive and valuable group of documents has been placed on deposit by Major F Carpenter Holland Griffith, of Carreglwyd, Anglesey, and Biddenham, Bedford. The collection was partly described by John Cordy Jeaffreson in the Appendix to the fifth report of the Royal Commission on Historical MSS, 1876, pages 405-23. Mr Jeaffreson dealt more particularly with the papers which relate to national affairs. The collection, however, contains a large number of papers dealing with Anglesey and other parts of North West Wales during the xvth to the early six century.

The collection which has now been catalogued may be divided into two parts:-

1. Legal and Official Documents

These number just over 2,000 and are mainly made up of various legal instruments such as leases, mortgages, marriage settlements, wills, covenants to levy fines, final concords, sheriffs' writs, inquisitions post mortem, surveys and various Orders out of the ecclesiastical courts of the diocese of Bangor and St Asaph (drawn up by Dr William Griffith, Chancellor of both dioceses). There are also bundles of receipted bills, copies of older records, and tradesmen's bills. The remainder consist of Muster Rolls, Rent Rolls, Reports of the Commissioners of Array for North Wales, Mise Assessments and other taxes such as the tax upon houses and windows. Most of the latter documents refer especially to the Hundreds of Talybolion and Menai, in Anglesey.

These documents throw light upon the social condition of Anglesey and North Wales generally and illustrate the legal and administrative organisation of the country, and the manner in which many of the old Welsh customs persisted up to the end of the 18th century. Those papers relating to the public affairs of the Principality during the Civil War and the Commonwealth are of great importance as also are the official and domestic papers dealing with public affairs in England during this period. Mention may be made of Fletcher's Cart-takers as an example of a very interesting document. This is a copy of the original and is in the hand of John Griffith who took a prominent part in the public affairs of England in the 17th century.

2. Other Papers

These number about 200 and comprise private and episcopal letters, petitions, and circular letters from the Privy Council. There are also literary papers including various poems and verses of which the most interesting are the copies of satirical verses attacking Sir John Suckling because of his gift of a troop of horse to Charles the First and Sir John Suckling's "answere". Another interesting paper is the letter Commendatroy, under the public seal of "the island of Bermuda in America," given to Rev. Thomas Holland in 1706 on his departure from that Colony, to be exhibited by the bearer to any enemy into whose hands the vessel, (in which the clergyman is about to return to Europe), may fall.

The Carreglwyd Collection will supplement the Wynn of Gwydir Papers of which a Calendar is about to be published, for the two collections have several points of affinity. Sir Richard Wynn, son of Sir

John Wynn of Gwydir, was Groom of the Chamber to Charles I while Prince of Wales, afterwards Treasurer to Queen Henrietta Maria. Many of the Gwydir papers derive their importance from Sir Richard Wynn's position at Court. Contemporary with him was John Griffith, a lawyer of Gray's inn, who was for several years Secretary to Henry, Earl of Northampton, Lord Privy Seal to James I. Griffith was the trusted friend of the Earl of Northampton, and one of the executors of his will. The Carreglwyd collection of papers derives its importance mainly from the documents carefully preserved by John Griffith, who lived through the Civil War, the Commonwealth and the Restoration.

Major Carpenter Holland Griffith, with fine public spirit, readily agreed to deposit the papers in the National Library to ensure their preservation, and in order that they may be available for use for literary and historical purposes.

Arthur Williams-Wynn, D.L., J.P., of Coedymaen, Welshpool

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1924-25

Disgrifiad / Description

Mr Arthur Williams-Wynn, D.L., J.P., of Coedymaen, Welshpool, has deposited manuscripts, papers, and printed books of, or relating to, his ancestor Sir William Williams, Bart, (1634-1700), Speaker of the House of Commons and Solicitor-General.

William Williams (created knight, 1687, baronet 1688), born at Nantanog, Anglesey, and buried at Llansilin, Denbighshire, was one of the foremost lawyers of the 17th century. He took part in several memorable actions at law, generally in opposition to his fellow-countryman, Lord Chancellor Jeffreys, whom he disliked and by whom he was in return disliked bitterly. He was a champion of the Whigs and of the privileges of the Commons against the King and the Court Party, except when he led the attack as Solicitor-General upon the Seven Bishops, among whom, it will be remembered, was his neighbour William Lloyd, Bishop of St Asaph.

The nature of the present collection which was examined by Mr Lleufer Thomas when he was preparing the account of Williams for the Dictionary of National Biography and designated by him-the 'William-Wynn MSS.'-is fully indicated by Mr Thomas in his biography of Williams.

The following is a list of some papers of special interest:-

(a) 1684. "The humble petition of William Williams Esqr. to the King's Most Excellent Majestie". Concerning the printing of a libellous "Narrative" by Dangerfield which Williams, as Speaker, had licensed for printing in 1680. This petition to James II failed in its purpose and Williams was fined £10,000. (b) Papers relating to an action of 'Scandalum magnatum' brought by the Earl of Peterborough against Williams, in respect of the publications of Dangerfield's "Narrative". (c) Several papers relating to the Trial of the Seven Bishops. (d) "The Speech of Mr Speaker to Sir Robert Eyton on his expulsion from the House". This was the occasion of which Williams indulged in extremely strong language. (e) Papers relating to the case of the King V Algernon Sidney who was accused of treason and whom Williams defended. (f) Letters and papers signed by William Lloyd, Bishop of St. Asaph; Judge Jeffreys; and a letter in the autograph of the Earl of Sunderland to Sir William Williams; Bart., Solicitor-General, conveying to him the Command of King James II requiring his presence in London. (g) Autograph letter of Edward Lhuyd the antiquary. Sir William Williams had bought from Edward Lhuyd's father the Llanvorda estates. (h) 1691-1692. Sir William Williams's Cause Book. (i) Cywydd Mawl Syrr William Williams, Gwr y Cyfreth Anrhydeddus." This Cywydd, dated September 1694, is in the autograph of the poet Huw Morus; it was from this copy that "Gwallter Mechain" took the poem for his edition of the collected works of Huw Morus (Eos Ceiriog).

In addition to the manuscripts, there are several printed broadsides, pamphlets, and books, some now rare and forgotten, but of value to the historian of the period. For example, five printed items relate to the affairs of the East India Company. Williams, in a learned argument, questioned the legality of the chartered rights granted to the Company.

Poems with The tenth Satyre of Iuvenal Englished. By Henry Vaughan, Gent., London, 1646 (Dept of Printed Books).

Sir John Williams was an assiduous hunter after the early editions of the works of Henry Vaughan, Silurist, born in Breconshire, 1622. He was able to obtain good copies of all except the first little book of poems printed in 1646, when Vaughan was a student of the law, which he afterwards abandoned for medicine. This little volume has just been purchased. Its title runs:- Poems with the tenth Satyre of Iuvenal Englished. By Henry Vaughan, Gent. - tam nil, mulla tibi evendo Illiade. - London. Printed by G. Badger, and are to be sold at his shop under Saint Dunstan's Church in Fleet Street. 1646. It is a modest volume, little thought of by Vaughan himself in later years, when his muse, had attained to the heights, and he had published Olo Iscanus, 1651, with an engraved title page, one of the finest in any book of the time.

An important addition is the complete library of Dr. Sidney Hartland, formerly of Swansea (NLW MSS 5923-9, 6798-848). Dr Hartland is one of the greatest living authorities on Folklore. His library deals almost wholly with Anthropology, on which subject it is so complete that it is doubtful whether such a collection could be brought together again. The gathering of the books extended over a period of nearly fifty years. This collection, with the library bequeathed by the late Dr Witton Davies, mainly Ethnic Religion, places the National Library in a strong position for the study of Anthropology.

THE BOURDILLON COLLECTION

Blwyddyn / Year

Disgrifiad / Description

This splendid library, purchased from the Trustees of the late Francis William Bourdillon, of Buddington, Sussex, a former President of the Bibliographical Society, contains 6.178 printed volumes (Dept of Printed Books) and over 150 manuscripts. Its special feature is its wealth of romance literature, particularly manuscript and printed editions of the Roman de la Rose, of which Mr Bourdillon made a study (see his monograph, The early editions of the Roman de la Rose, Bibl. Soc. Illus. Monographs, no. xiv). The collection also contains many valuable treatises, source books and fine books.

Manuscripts (NLW MSS 5001-148). There are 44 early manuscripts (xivth and xvth century), many on vellum, some richly illuminated and a few exquisitely bound. Amongst them are two xivth century and five xvth century manuscripts of the Roman de la Rose (NLW MSS 5011-2E, 5013-7D). There is also a xiiiith century Launcelot manuscript (NLW MS 5018D).

The modern manuscripts number over 100 and are for the most part sources for the study of romance or transcripts of the early manuscripts.

Romance Literature, etc. Over 1,000 volumes are early or rare texts of romances and books dealing with the subject. The great value of the collection lies in its series of printed editions of the Roman de la Rose, there being altogether 23 early editions or issues (i.e. all mentioned in Bourdillon's Monograph on the subject, except the [1494-5] ed. [E. Folio V]) and several later editions.

Other romances are well represented (e.g. Huon de Bordeaux, Charlemagne, Melusine, Galien Restaurém, Aymon, Valentin and Orson, Amis and Amile, Palmerin d'Olive, Godefroy de Bouillon, Paris and Vienne, Amadis de Gaule, Jourdain de Blaves, etc. etc.). Of Aucassin and Nicolette there are about 45 editions. Mr Bourdillon translated this romance into English. His version is now a classic, and has been re-printed many times.

The Arthurian Literature includes early printed editions of Merlin 1498 and [1526], 3 vols; Lancelot 1513-20, 3 vols; The Holy Grail, 1523; Perceval le Galloys, 1530; Tristan [?1506], 2 vols 1533, 1586; Artus de Bretagne, 1556; Gildas, 1525.

The Library also contains about 68 volumes printed before 1500, for the most part in the original bindings of pigskin or stamped calf, and many fine bindings, several of the rarer books being richly bound in crushed morocco, delicately gilt tooled and with elaborate doublures, etc.

The collection contains most of the books necessary for the literary history of early romance, especially the French romances, including many of the large and expensive bibliographical works and art books (Dept of Printed Books).

All the books have been catalogued and the manuscripts have been assigned shelf numbers. The catalogue is now in the printers' hands and about half of it is in type.

It is well known that Principal Davies is the owner of one of the finest libraries of Welsh books and manuscripts now in private hands, and that his collections are designed for public use sooner or later.

Principal Davies has decided to transfer gradually his collection of manuscripts to the National Library. He has already sent, as the first instalment, the manuscripts catalogued for the Historical Manuscripts Commission by Dr Gwenogvryn Evans and included in the Report on Manuscripts in the Welsh language, Volume II, Part III, 1905, where they are fully described as regards their contents, but Principal Davies has since added valuable notes to most of them, with details as to his acquisition of them and their former owners.

Principal Davies has been moved to make the transfer by a desire to make his manuscript available for use by students and others, and also to preserve them against the risk of fire and other perils to which valuable treasures are inevitably exposed in private houses. The number already transferred is about fifty. The total number in Principal Davies's collection is over 600. His library of printed books numbers several thousands, and includes many very rare and some unique books.

Blwyddyn / Year

Disgrifiad / Description

Autograph letters sent to their uncle, the late Henry Richard, M.P., "The Apostle of Peace"; manuscripts of Henry Richard's father, the Rev. Ebenezer Richard of Tregaron, Methodist minister; and manuscripts of Rev James Hughes, "Iago Trichrug", (1779-1844), Methodist preacher, poet and commentator (NLW MSS 5503-5C, 5506-7A, 5508D, 5509C, 5510A, 5511C).

The autograph letters addressed to Henry Richard are numerous, interesting and valuable (NLW MSS 5503-5C). Among the many writers represented are Mr Gladstone, Elihu Burritt, Joseph Chamberlain, Dr Dale of Birmingham, Henry Fawcett, Sir William Harcourt, Sir Wilfred Lawson, A. J. Mundella, Herbert Spencer and William Morris; Welsh correspondents include the first Lord Aberdare, L. L. Dillwyn, Henry Edwards (Dean of Bangor), Dr Lewis Edwards of Bala and his son, Principal Viriamu Jones, Michael D. Jones, Sir Lewis Morris, Lord Rendel and Sir Hugh Owen. Most of the letters relate to Henry Richard's work on behalf of international peace; others concern Intermediate and University education in Wales, the Church and Welsh politics.

The Ebenezer Richard group of manuscripts consists of sermons in Welsh and English, notes of addresses on religious subjects, questions and answers used in catechising Sunday Schools, memoranda and notes - all in his autograph, - together with notes in another hand of sermons preached "yn Nghymanfa'r Bala", June 20, 1832, by Ebenezer Richard and John Evans, Llwynffortun (NLW MSS 5506-7A).

The manuscripts of James Hughes include a commonplace book, letters by him (from Rotherhithe) to Rev David Roberts, manuscripts of his poetical compositions, and notes of sermons in English and Welsh (NLW MSS 5510A, 5511C).

The Ebenezer Richard group supplements an earlier donation by the Misses Evans already reported upon .

Disgrifiad / Description

Manuscripts and papers of and relating to her father, Lewis Jones, "Rhuddenfab", poet, editor and publisher (NLW MSS 5512-21). The most interesting item in this collection is the original manuscript by Daniel Owen of Adgofion am Ioan Jones Rhuthyn (NLW MS 5520B).

There is also an interesting group of autograph letters from eminent literary men in Wales, in the latter half of the last century (NLW MS 5518B)- such as Hwfa Môn (R. Williams); Eifionydd (John Thomas) Watcyn Wyn (W. H. Williams); Llew Llwyfo (L. W. Lewis); Daniel Owen; Tanymarian (E. Stephen); Mynyddog (Richard Davies), etc.

The largest group of manuscripts consists of poems (most of these are by Rhuddenfab himself), hymns, literary adjudications, essays, sermons and miscellaneous anecdotes, which were probably meant for publication (NLW MSS 5512-13B, 5514-15C, 5516B, 5517C, 5519D, 5521B). Besides these, there are reports of various literary meetings, Eisteddfodau, Cyfarfodydd Cystadleuol, the Celebration of the Centenary of Sunday Schools in 1880, etc., and a bulky volume of Press Cuttings consisting of articles by Lewis Jones under different pseudonyms (Dept of Printed Books).

The printed matter comprises: 1. biographies "Cofiant y Parch. Christmas Evans," "Cofiant y Parch. Hugh Pughe Mostyn, "Cofiant y Parch. T. Pierce, Liverpool," "Testimonials to the Rev. Thomas Prichard, Vicar of Rhos," etc.; (Dept of Printed Books) 2. Miscellaneous books printed by Lewis Jones (Dept of Printed Books); 3. A few songs prepared for publication (Dept of Printed Books).

Ffynhonnell / Source

The Right Hon Sir J Herbert Lewis, G.B.E.

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1924-25

Disgrifiad / Description

A leather-bound folio volume 279 pp. each measuring 405 x 160 mm. It is a book of general accounts from 1728 to 1738, kept by Rev Hugh Lloyd, M.A., who was Vicar of Mold 1729-49 and who also farmed land (NLW MS 598E). Hugh Lloyd was the son of Evan Lloyd of Halkin, gent., and brother of John Lloyd, Sheriff of Flintshire in 1720.

The manuscript contains a detailed account of the quantities of malt and hops used for brewing, and the number of gallons of ale brewed and tapped every month; also a list of all the live-stock and crops sold, and the prices received for them. It was evidently used as a diary as well as an account book, for there are entries relating to various births, marriages, deaths, wills, etc. and matters of external interest, in addition to records of the general routine of the farm. Other items of interest are an inventory of the writer's plate, surplice fees received, 1729-44, and the expenses of building a schoolhouse at Mold. The volume should prove useful both from an historical and from an economic point of view.

ENGLISH SERMONS

1925038

Ffynhonnell / Source

Lt Col J I D Nicholl, DL, JP, Merthyr Mawr

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1924-25

Disgrifiad / Description

A manuscript volume of sermons in English preached at various places, mainly Gloucester and London, by Rev D. S. Davis, (1790-1826), minister of Guildford Street Welsh Congregational Church, London, and a native of Llanfihangel Rhos y Corn (NLW MS 5163A).

A number of rare and valuable printed books relating to Wales (Dept of Printed Books), including " A Briefe and necessarie Catechisme set foorth by Richard Jones, Schoole-master in Cardif: for the benefit of all Householders, their children and Familie. With a short instruction for all that doo receiue the holy communion. Imprinted at London by Thomas East, 1583." Collation - Title A1, To the Worshipfull Master Baylifes, the Alderman, Burgesses, and all that trulie feare God in Cardiff, Richard Ihones, Schoolemaster in the same Tovvne, wisheth increase of all grace and comfort in the Lord Jesus Christ for euermore. A2 A3. A Catechisme A4-C8=28pp. Not paged. Bound in red Levant morocco. Three editions of this Catechism were printed, 1583, 1600, and 1614. All the editions are rare.

"A Short Catechism for The institution of Young Persons in the Christian Religion. To which is added, an explication of the Apostolical Creed, Easie and useful for these Times. Composed for the Use of the Schools in South Wales ... Let this Truth be confessed and remain for ever, That they who are well instructed, easily become good men. London, Printed by J. Flesher for R. Royston, at the Angel in Ivy-Lane. 1652." 60 pp., including 1 blank leaf, bound in scarlett morocco.

This also is a very rare book, and though no author's name appears it is confidently attributed to Jeremy Taylor, afterwards Bishop of Down and Connor, who was resident in Carmarthenshire from 1644 to 1653. The little book was probably written during Taylor's residence at Golden Grove, the seat of his patron Richard Vaughan, second Earl of Carbery, to whom he became private chaplain after his capture at Cardigan in the early years of the Civil War, and was printed by Royston, who published most of Taylor's works. Its compilation may be due to the fact that Taylor at this time assisted two other English clergymen, William Nicholson and William Wyatt, who conducted a school, in preparation for the Universities, at Newton Hall (Collegium Newtoniense) in the parish of Llanfihangel Aberbythych, Carmarthenshire.

Some of Taylor's best work, including the Liberty of Prophesying, the Holy Living, and Holy Dying, was done at Golden Grove, a name preserved in the title of his rich manual of devotional prose and verse. Sir Edmund Gosse (Jeremy Taylor, English Men of Letters Series, 1904), says: "It is to this beautiful retreat, in a rich valley of South Wales, that we owe the ripest products of his intellect."

It is interesting also to recall that some of Taylor's verse was influenced by Henry Vaughan, the Silurist, whose Silex Scintillans appeared in 1650. Whether Vaughan and Taylor ever met in Wales is not perhaps known; it is known, however, that the Earl of Carbery was a distant kinsman of the Silurist, whilst in Mrs Katherine Phillips of Cardigan Priory, "The Matchless Orinda," whom Taylor knew, Vaughan and Taylor had a common friend. One of Taylor's minor works (A Discourse of the Nature and offices of Friendship) was inspired by Mrs Katherine Phillips, to whom it was dedicated.

A Prophesic of Cadwallader, last King of the Britaines: ... etc. London: Printed by Thomas Creede ...1604. pp.70 unnumbered. Bound in full morocco.

A rare volume, reprinted by A. B. Grosart in the Miscellanies of the Fuller Worthies Library. The work is ascribed to William Harbert, or as he is sometimes wrongly called Sir William Herbert, Glamorgan. Little is known of this writer, except that he was a native of Wales and in some way associated with the Pembroke (Herbert) family. The two Epistles, one at the beginning and the other at the end of the Phrophesie, dedicated to Sir Philip Herbert, are signed William Harbert.

The Life and Death of Sheffery Morgan, son of Shon ap Morgan. The first part. London: C. Brown for S. Deacon, n.d. pp. 24, not paged. Bound in green levant morocco.

A chap-book, which was issued at least four times, this being the earliest recorded edition. It was printed in London for S. Deacon [c. 1700], who, according to Plomer, was the widow of John or B. Deacon, booksellers of cheap and popular literature. On the last page of this chap-book, however, is a list of "Books printed for, and are to be sold by Sam. Deacon ..." so that it would appear that there were three men of the name of Deacon engaged in bookselling.

Two editions were published in Newcastle [? 1770 and 1785], and the fourth in Edinburgh, [? 1820]. The writer of this work also published a ballad entitled The Welsh Fortuneteller: or, Sheffery Morgan's observations of the stars, as he sat upon a mountain in Wales. [London, ? 1689].

The Description and the practice of the four most admirable Beasts: Explained in four sermons ... by ... Gr. Lord Bishop of Ossory. London: Printed by Tho. Roycroft, ... 1663." pp. xvi, 134. Bound in morocco, gilt-tooled.

The author of this work was Griffith Williams, (1589?-1672) Bishop of Ossory. Several of the works of this noted Royalist bishop, who was born at Treveilian, Llanrug, are already in the National Library. Animadversions upon A Letter and Paper first sent to His Highness by certain Gentlemen and others in VVales ... By One Whose Desire and Endeavour is, to Preserve Peace and Safety, by removing Offence and Enmity. Printed in the year 1656. pp. v, 106. Bound in blue levant morocco, gilt-tooled, g.e.

BRUT Y TYWYSOGION

1925045

Blwyddyn / Year

Disgrifiad / Description

A vellum-bound volume of 94 leaves, on paper, 8 x 6 ins, mutilated in parts, being a 16th century incomplete transcript of the Chronical Principum Wallia, or Brut y Tywysogion (NLW MS 4996B). Inside the front cover is written - " This Book was wrote in the Year 1560", nd "Had at Bala ... Mr Lloyd of Paleys Tenant February, 1781, Wm. Ellis," and outside "J. J. Llanfwrog, 1854." The cover itself is a portion of some older manuscript, its contents being scarcely legible. The name "Hwmffrey Hughes" occurs on folio 36b.

The manuscript seems to be an incomplete "transcript" of the Red Book of Hergest, with modernised orthography, omissions, and verbal changes; its chief interest lies in those parts where it differs from Peniarth MS. 212.
