TEXT OF THE WELSH LAWS

1969110

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1968-69

Disgrifiad / Description

A Welsh manuscript of 234 pages, on vellum, of the second half of the fourteenth century, containing a text of the Welsh Laws (NLW MS 20143A). The volume is to be identified with MS. Y. of Aneurin Owen: Ancient Laws and Institutes of Wales (1841), then described by the editor as 'presented by the Rev. Mr. Conybeare to the Literary Society of Neath' and subsequently reported by E[geron] P[hillimore] (Y Cymmrodor, Vol. IX, p. 299) as 'lost since before 1860'. The text, almost entirely bicolour, agrees closely with 'Llyfr Cyfnerth' to the end of 'Cyfreithiau Llys' (Laws of Court) on p. 42, but thereafter shows little resemblance to any one existing manuscript, although it appears to be based largely on 'Llyfr Blegywryd', without however corresponding to the text order of the printed version of this code. The volume is rubricated, profusely in parts, with one miniature and several decorative capital letters in red and blue (or green) and pen-work in the contrasting colour. There are also, generally in the lower margins enclosing catchwords, a number of red-and-blue (or green) foliate designs and drawings mainly of grotesques (of which four are described respectively as of the four Evangelists), and there is one larger drawing in the same colours depicting the Crucifixion. Some of the pages are rubbed and the majority of the membranes are cockled, and the condition of the upper margin of about fifty membranes has variously deteriorated, occasionally with the loss or discolouration of pen-work. The volume is bound in calf and is lettered on the spine 'Leges Wallicae Saec 13 [sic]'.

EDWARD FOULKES

1969120

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1968-69

Disgrifiad / Description

Manuscript by, and in the hand of, one Edward Foulkes, ?attorney of Manchester, entitled 'Mural Budget & Journal by Way of Legacy to Flintshire for the year 1807 containing A Short History of the Town and Castle of Flint and an accurate Account of the Prisoners in the Gaol with the Causes of their Confinem[en]t, together with an Exposure of various Impositions and nefarious Practices that infest Society - but more especially the Prisoner's Life interspersed with sundry Reflections, of a moral, political, legal & philosophical Nature, adopted to such Occurrences as reached my Observation while at Flint concluding with Observations on my own Case & Trial' (NLW MS 20377C). The volume comprises 189 pages, with an index of 7 pages, and the dedication reads 'To His Majesty's Justices of the Peace, acting in and for the said County of Flint this Budget is most respectfully dedicated by their most humble & obedient Servant Edwd. Foulkes'. The writer was convicted at the Flintshire Spring Assizes in April 1807 on a charge of bigamy, and was sentenced to a term of imprisonment of twelve months and to a fine of £100, - his defence to the charge was that his first marriage was null and void on the ground that his wife was under age and no lawful consent was given. The narrative is generally of considerable interest, e.g., the description of Flint prison, the description of Flint town, with historical notes; the 'Situations and Causes of Confinement' of his fellow prisoners; a visit to the prison by a Welsh bard, harper, and 'pennyllion' singers; the Flint Boroughs parliamentary elcction; bathing habits at Flint; the lack of pipes for conveying fresh and salt water to the baths, and the lack of 'separate Apartments' for female prisoners; an explosion in a neighbouring colliery; mutiny in the prison; a visit to the prison by a 'Methodist Preacher' ('self-sanctified Puritan'); visits to the prison by 'wakes visitors', with references to pony races, balls, and bull baiting; the complaints of fellow prisoners; and especially (pp. 140-89) an account of his own trial and conviction.
